Leadership Nacogdoches

“Together Everyone Achieves More”

How do you define “leadership”? What makes a person a “leader”? How do you recognize a leader? Who decides that a person is a “leader”? How are leaders chosen?

Everyone is a leader. A person’s words and actions influence others around you. Every person in Leadership Nacogdoches 2017 Class is a leader. You would not be here if your employer did not think so.

How do you, as a leader, select your TEAM members? How do you identify strengths in others and how do you bring those strengths out for the betterment of the entire group/organization/business/TEAM?

What type of leadership qualities do you most admire and which of those have you found to be successful in your career?

What do you believe to be your greatest strength as a leader?

What do you believe to be your greatest limitation/shortcoming as a leader?

Other Possible Discussion Topics:

Decision-making and its effects. Challenges of leading and making decisions vs. “being everyone’s best friend”. Decisions and leading do not always make everyone happy.

Leaders of all ages. Leaders are developing younger and people are living longer with good health and medicine so the spectrum of leaders has broadened as well as followers.

Leadership styles: Lead by humor, lead by example, be a visionary, loud and visible vs. silent, etc. What is your leadership style?

Think about a person with whom you know -whether home setting, school, workplace, or civic organization - and whose leadership you most admire. What was the distinguishing feature of their leadership style which elicited your admiration? Thinking of that same person, what was a personal characteristic that limited their effectiveness as a leader?

What is one thing that you can do to further develop the leader in you? (Think about it – don’t have to share with us- but, really select one thing- and start today!)
