

LONE STAR LEGISLATIVE SUMMIT

PROGRAM OF The Chamber NACOGDOCHES COUNTY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Lone Star Legislative Summit (LSLS) is a biennial program of the Nacogdoches County Chamber of Commerce founded in 2006. The last summit was held in 2018 with a record number of 500 attendees. The event was co-hosted by State Senator Robert Nichols and State Representative Travis Clardy.

LSLS 2018 boasts “the largest meeting of legislators outside of Austin that year!” Venues included Texas landmarks, Stephen F. Austin State University and The Fredonia Hotel and Convention Center in Nacogdoches.

In 2018, Governor Greg Abbott was the luncheon keynote speaker. Jeff Moseley, CEO of the Texas Association of Business, spoke at the kick-off breakfast meeting.

More than 30 members of the Texas Senate and House attended.

During the panel discussions, members of legislature and Texas leaders discussed: Tourism, Energy, Education, Healthcare and Revisiting History.

At the Lone Star Reception the evening before the summit, a media panel discussion with Scott Braddock, journalist/political analyst, Quorum Report; Chris Perkins, partner/pollster, WPA Opinion Research; Jay Root, Reporter, Texas Tribune; Jay Leeson, columnist, Lubbock Avalanche/lubbockonline.com; Erica Grieder, columnist, Houston Chronicle; and Brandon Darby, blogger/author, Breitbart.com participated in “Media Madness: Divided We Fall: The Polarization of Politics.”

LSLS is promoted heavily throughout the East Texas region and covered by multiple media outlets.
